Background

At Think Ahead, we want to see a society where everyone with mental health problems can flourish. We know that won't happen unless people can improve their social circumstances – because issues like relationships, living arrangements and employment have profound effects on mental well-being. This is why we created the Think Ahead programme: a new route into mental health social work for talented graduates and career-changers. It has become one of the country's most competitive graduate schemes, with high-profile support across the political spectrum, extensive media coverage, and more than 20 applications for each place on the programme.

We're looking for a dynamic and highly motivated professional to join our Recruitment team. You will play an important role in attracting and selecting high-quality participants to join the Think Ahead programme. You will support the delivery of the recruitment strategy through all stages of the process: from initial attraction of applicants through university careers and alumni events, screening and assessing candidates to supporting participants up to the point that they start the programme.

Job Description

Play a key role in recruiting high-quality participants to join the Think Ahead programme, with responsibility for:

(a) Attraction of applicants

- Book and attend targeted events including careers fairs, skills sessions and presentations to universities and other organisations within your geographical areas to build awareness of the Think Ahead programme to generate sufficient quantity and quality of applications.
- Contribute to diversity targets by sourcing candidates from under-represented groups.
- Build relationships with key external partners, including careers advisors and relevant university course leaders.
- Provide support and oversight for Recruitment Ambassadors, a team of current students who provide on-campus promotion for Think Ahead.

(b) Screening and assessment

- Select candidates both at application and assessment stage in a fair, transparent way using set competencies.
- Ensure all assessments are filled using our Salesforce candidate management system with sufficient candidates through effective communication.
- Lead some group assessments, taking responsibility for running a fair process and ensuring a high quality of experience for candidates.
- Provide feedback to both successful and unsuccessful candidates.

(c) Relationship management with participants

- Maintain contact with participants to ensure that their interest in and commitment to the role is maintained, tracking their requirements to minimise risk of drop-out and maintaining a back-up list where required.
- Liaise with the Programme team to ensure participants are clear regarding the requirements of their assigned unit within a NHS trust or local authority.

(d) Onboarding of participants

- Ensure that all onboarding processes are complete, including allocation to unit, submission of DBS, references and payroll details and completion of work shadowing.
- Ensure that all participants are ready for the start of the programme in summer 2021.

Commitment – on occasion, it may be necessary to work longer days or on weekends when attending events or assessment centres in peak recruitment season. Time off in lieu will be given for this work. This is a broad description of likely duties, but your role may vary over time and include a wide range of objectives and experiences. We are a small, flat organisation, and all our team members need to take responsibility for leading projects and driving work forward independently.

This post is full time for 37.5 hours a week. Think Ahead's core hours of work are from 10:00am to 4:00pm from Monday to Friday, with a minimum of 20 and maximum of 60 minutes for lunch each day. The recruitment process at Think Ahead

Please read the following carefully before completing your application form.

The application form:

Personal details

Make sure that your contact details are clearly displayed. If you move house between sending in your form and being interviewed, please let us know as soon as possible.

Education and training

Give a list of formal and informal training. Formal training is training that is certified, e.g. a degree. Sometimes we ask for specific qualifications. You may need to provide information so that we can assess whether you meet the qualification requirements, e.g. relevant qualification for accountancy or research.

Present and previous employment

Starting with your current or last employer, list all the employers you have worked for. Provide the job title and the period you worked for them. Briefly describe the main duties of the post. This information may be used to assess whether you meet the experience required for the vacancy. Check that the dates are correct and in order (please account for gaps in employment).

Supporting statement

This is the most important part of the form. You have to make a case here for selection. Do not repeat your career history; use only the relevant parts, drawing out the skills you have developed.

It is usually a good idea to use extracts from the person specification as headings and answer them as questions. However, do not just repeat what we are asking for. You have to demonstrate how your experience matches the criteria.

In considering your experience, remember all your previous work and draw on this to demonstrate that you have the necessary skills.

Do not forget other relevant experience outside work that may contribute to meeting the person specification, such as community, voluntary, leisure and other interests. Describe any relevant skills this experience has helped you develop.

Remember, it is your skills and abilities relevant to this job that we are looking for. You do not have to write several pages in support of your application, but rather focus on ensuring you meet the essential criteria in the person specification.

Legal and organisational requirements when filling in the application form:

Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974

You should not sign the application form without being clear about what you have to reveal about yourself. For instance, you do not need to disclose convictions that would be deemed as being spent under the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974, or cautions, reprimands and final warnings that are over five years old, unless they are exempt from the Act.

Referees

At least one referee must be known to you in a work capacity, and should be given by the person who line managed you. If this is not possible you should clearly explain the relationship and the reason for giving another person as a referee.

The interview

All shortlisted candidates will be contacted by either telephone or email to offer an interview and this will be confirmed by letter or email. You will be informed of details of the interview in advance, as well as notice of any presentation, test or exercise you may be asked to do at the interview.

The recruitment and selection panel will be comprised of a minimum of two people and will normally include the relevant line manager of the post. We will always try to ensure gender balance in the composition of the recruiting panel.

Applicants will be asked questions relating to the job description, person specification and application, and the panel will take notes during the course of the interview. This is part of the procedure to ensure that all applicants are treated equally, and to help us to make the right decision.

In preparation for the interview, take the opportunity to read through the job description, application form, and any other literature sent as part of the information pack, and be prepared to talk about your experience, giving examples that illustrate your ability to do particular parts of the job.

If you have any special requirements that would allow you to participate more fully in the interview, let Human Resources know when you are invited to interview.

Feedback

All unsuccessful candidates who have attended an interview will be offered constructive feedback; this can be useful for helping you in future interviews. Feedback should be a two-way process. It is important to use the information given to you positively. If possible, you should also give feedback on how the process felt for you.
